Charming and inexpensive little present is a silver plate with the owner's name engraved on it, such as I sell for bicycles. It has the advantage of being an impersonal present that any lady or gentleman can give to a friend without attracting comment.

So many similar wheels are being used now that it not infrequently occurs that some one carries off yours purely by mistake—these little title plates prevent such occurrences and add to the appearance of the wheel.

KICKED ALMOST TO DEATH

Two Colored Boys Quarrel About a Half-consumed Cigarette.

Clarence Toy Knocked George Washington Down and Inflicted Injuries Which May Prove Fatal.

While a crowd of small colored boys were playing in Acker's store yard, corner of North Capitol and E streets, about 9 o'clock last night, George Washington, aged thirteen, and Clarence Toy, aged fourteen, became engaged in a fight over a cigarette stump, and the result was that the Washington boy was nearly kicked to death.

Both boys had been playing with their companions when they spied a part of a cigarette. They both made a dash at it, and a fight ensued.

Toy knocked his companion down and kicked him several times about the head and body, and then ran away.

Several boys who were near by heard Washington's cry and ran to his assistance. They carried him to his home, No. 31 McCullough street, where he immediately became unconscious. The injured boy's father, George Washington, who is employed as a laborer at the Capitol, at once went for Police Sergeant Cannon, who found that the boy's condition was serious, as he had been kicked in the back of the head near the spinal column and had also received several blows in the stomach.

Sergeant Cannon and Policemen McDonald and Lynch, of the Sixth precinct, made a search for the Toy boy, but up to a late hour last night had not succeeded in locating him.

Washington had not, up to an early hour this morning, regained consciousness.

Arrested at a Camp Meeting.
Ernest Lyles, colored, was arrested last night by Policeman Heigle on a charge of having stolen a cow from Joseph Wise, a dairyman, who lives at Tennallytown. On three different occasions Wise has lost several head of blooded cows, and none of them has ever been recovered. Lyles was seen driving an animal into town recently, and when asked to give an account of himself could not do so. He escaped the officers, however, and they have been on the lookout for him. Last night Mounted Patrolman Heigle thought he had located this man, and after obtaining a description arrested him at a colored camp-meeting near Tennallytown. He had an accomplice, who will be arrested to-day.

RECKLESS STEAMER PENITZ

Narrowly Escaped a Disaster in Crossing the Richmond's Bow.

PASSENGERS WERE ALARMED

Charges Will Be Preferred Against Capt. Baker by Pilot Phillips—It Is Alleged That Rivalry Exists Between the Vessels and That the Penitz Violated the Law of the River.

Hundreds of men and women held their breath on Wednesday evening last when the steamer Samuel J. Penitz ran across the bow of the City of Richmond, both vessels under a full head of steam for Washington. The passengers on the City of Richmond report the incident as one of thrilling interest to them. They allege that in the run of the Penitz across the bow of the Richmond the former steamer was so close to the latter that the passengers could have reached out and touched the Penitz.

There were about five hundred passengers on the City of Richmond and the Penitz was also with a heavy crowd of excursionists. The Richmond about 9:30 p. m. had reached a point between Bryan Point and Fort Washington and was sailing her regular course.

The steamer Penitz was making the trip down the river. She passed the Richmond and when a short distance asdwn crossed the wake of the steamer and bore up on a parallel course between the Richmond and the Maryland shore. The Penitz had come down on the Virginia side.

Just ahead of the Penitz were some small craft which they had to avoid. When they saw the Penitz heading northwest and continuing on that course down river and nearer to the Richmond.

PILOT PHILLIPS' STORY.

Pilot Frank Phillips was sailing the Richmond and his attention was attracted by the strange action of the Penitz, but he had no idea of what had happened.

The Penitz kept on its course to the northwest and deliberately ran across the bow of the heavier vessel. When the passengers on the Richmond saw that the Penitz intended to cross at this short distance there was the utmost consternation.

It appeared to them that a head-on collision was absolutely certain. The women among to each other and were alarmed with the probability of an inevitable disaster, which would have involved the lives of nearly 1,000 men, women and children.

The only way out of the disaster, as it seemed to the pilot of the Richmond, was to stop and stop the Richmond. As soon as that officer saw that the Penitz was bent on crossing he pulled the helm to port, and that was so promptly done that the Penitz just brushed by at arm's length from the Richmond.

"Had I struck her," said Pilot Phillips last night, "I would have raised her from forward of the wheelhouse to stern. It was a good stop and a close shave."

The foregoing is the story as gleaned from passengers on the City of Richmond and the officers of that vessel. The latter are indignant at the act of the Penitz, and propose to have the case investigated.

NOT ONE OF DANGER.

Capt. Barker, of the Samuel J. Penitz, was seen last night and was told the circumstances as they appeared to people on board the City of Richmond. Capt. Barker did not regard the situation as at all one of danger. He did not run vainly across the bow of the Richmond. He admitted coming down and rounding the Richmond and following her on that course.

"I don't see how I could have crossed her I was nearly a hundred yards distant. Just in front of me was a vessel that I took to be a schooner, showing a green light. I was another, passed ahead of the Richmond and that was all there was to it. As I passed the City of Richmond on the starboard side I was one minute, the usual sign, and I was answered."

Capt. Barker accuses the City of Richmond of trying to elude his question.

Pilot Phillips does not regard the matter so lightly and will have the case reported to the steamboat inspectors.

Mr. Charles Weaver, who was one of the passengers, said last night that when the Penitz was passing the bow of the Richmond there were some moments of intense pressure excitement on board. Many of the women were simply paralyzed with fear for their own safety and for that of the impending disaster was not already realized.

WEDDED TO THE CHURCH.

Miss Julia Byrne, of this City, Takes the White Veil at Newark.

Newark, N. J., Aug. 15.—With solemn and impressive services in the chapel of the Dominican Monastery, at the corner of South Ninth street, near Thirteenth avenue, Miss Julia Byrne, a bright-faced young woman, of Washington, D. C., this afternoon, took the vows and the white veil and hereafter she will not leave the convent.

The ceremony was conducted by one of the Dominican fathers. Miss Byrne appeared in the chapel dressed in white as a bride, and she remained during the services with white gloves and veil.

Then she retired to the cloister, where she took the habit, and followed the benediction. The young woman, who has been in the institution one year, will be known as Sister Mary of the Sacred Heart.

Pulled a False Alarm.

Some mischievous young "rounders" pulled in a fire alarm from the keybox at the corner of Thirteenth and B streets northwest just before 11 o'clock last night. The fire department quickly responded to the false alarm. The penalty for tampering with the boxes is $50.

Bolden Sent to Jail.

Henry Bolden, the desperate young negro, who tried to kill Ed. Burrell, a colored boot-black with a long butcher knife and pursued him along Pennsylvania avenue, as described in The Morning Times yesterday, was sent to jail for two months by Judge Mills yesterday.

PRICE PUT ON GOMEZ'S HEAD

Captain General Campos Said to Have Offered a Bandit $50,000.

Guerrillas, Supported by Havana Merchants, Rival Defeated by the Insurgents.

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 15.—A telegram to the Times-Union from Key West says:

Private advices received in this city report that Mirabal, formerly a noted bandit, now with the insurgents, has been offered $50,000 and a free pass from the island by Martinez Campos if he will kill Maximiliano Gomez. The matter was promptly reported to Gomez.

On the 12th inst., the insurgents, under the command of Bermudez, captured the forts and burned the same in Santa Clara province.

Col. Zehere, reported killed by the government, has taken command of the insurgents formerly commanded by Garzon, who was killed at the battle of Pelaya.

Roberto and a band of followers have destroyed all communication between Santa Clara and the rest of the island. A letter was received in this city last night from one of Roberto's band dated the 25th inst., stating that they landed safely and had captured several horses and two carts, which they used for ammunition to the interior.

Several of the old signal men related their army experiences with Berkeheimer, who was spoken of as a marauder and petty tyrant.

Information was received that Berkeheimer was the aggressor in the affair with Private Gill, and that the latter would have been less than a man if he had not resented the insult offered him by the officer in citizen's clothes.

BERKEIMER THE AGGRESSOR.

The signal veterans are all men of brain and the peers of any officer of the army. Some of those present had felt the mortification of Berkeimer's insult when they were ordered to turn out in the lifetime of the signal corps.

They were, therefore, in a good frame of mind to pass strong resolutions for submission to Secretary Lambert.

One of those present related Berkeimer's first introduction to the regular army, when he was a cadet at West Point, and how he was first with the War Department.

"He came in the army with his first doubler for fight," said the speaker, "and he has been fighting ever since."

NEGROES LEAVING WINSTON.

Winston, N. C., Aug. 15.—Arthur Tuttle, the negro who shot and killed Policeman Vickers last May, was today sentenced to twenty-five years' imprisonment. He counselled not offer a motion for a new trial.

Fifty-six in Jail for Participation in the Late Riot.

Riot negroes who participated in the riot last Sunday night are in jail. The grand jury has returned over 100 true bills against parties connected with the affair.

It is estimated that 200 negroes have left Winston since the riot.

Cheap Excursions to Virginia Springs.

During the summer season the B. & O. R. R. will sell excursion tickets from Washington to the following named resorts at exceptionally low rates for all connecting trains each Friday and Saturday. Tickets valid for return, including Monday following: date of sale: Capon Springs, $5.35; Jordan's White Sulphur, $2.50; Orkney Springs, $4.85; Rawley Springs, $5.45.

Stigmata.

"Behold the miracle!" cried—
The somber priest who stood beside
A figure on whose snowy breast
The outlines of a cross expressed
In ridgy life-drops ebbed and flowed
"Behold in th' imprimatur of God!"

A kneeling woman raised her eyes
Lo! At the sight, in swift surprise,
Ere we struck lips a prayer could speak
Love's signs glow on brow and cheek;
And one in reverent hush said:
"Behold the miracle!"

Signal Service Veterans Will Protest Against Gill's Sentence.

THEY KNOW THE OFFICER

Secret Indignation Meeting at Which the Officer Was Denounced as a Tyrant and Petty Tyrant—Information Received That He Was the Aggressor.

Asbury Park, N. J., Aug. 15.—There was a quiet civil marriage here to-day of which the principals were Champion James J. Corbett and Jessie Taylor, of Omaha, better known as "Vern Stanwood," the name under which she figured as co-respondent in the recent suit for the divorce which was granted to Mrs. Ollie Lake Corbett.

So quietly had Corbett's intentions been kept that not even his manager and traveling companion, William A. Brady, knew that he intended matrimony so soon, nor were any of his other friends in sporting circles apprised of the event. Justice of the Peace John A. Borden entered the Corbett cottage at noon, for the Catholic Church, of which Corbett is a communicant, does not sanction the marriage rite for a divorced person.

He found waiting in the parlor J. E. Wortman, a real estate dealer of Asbury Park; F. J. Bucklow, of Jersey City, paymaster of the Consolidated Traction Company; Joseph Corbett, the brother of the champion, who assisted him in a recent restaurant unpleasantness with Fitzsimmons; Allen Brown, the colored cook, and two newspaper men.

A slight mistake delayed the wedding. For some official had handed out a birth certificate instead of the required marriage license. Mr. Bucklow was dispatched down town and returned soon with the necessary paper.

When the couple entered the parlor together Corbett wore a black tuxedo coat and light trousers; his fiancée a lavender silk costume, trimmed with lace, with a pompadour corsage and a delicate blue ribbon around her neck. After Justice Borden had pronounced the man and wife Corbett threw his arms around his wife's neck and kissed her heartily two or three times.

Congratulations followed. The couple left an hour afterward and colored Alice threw rice after them. They took a train for Buffalo and Niagara Falls, where they will stay for ten days, after which Corbett will return and begin training for his match with Fitzsimmons.

It would have been illegal for the pair to marry in New York, for the decree of divorce made in that State barred the possibility of remarriage in the lifetime of his first wife. Legal authorities say that they would not be recognized by the law as man and wife while living in New York.

In the marriage certificate the residence of both parties is given as Asbury Park.

Minor was appointed adjunct professor.

HAM ASTRIDE A LOBSTER

Baccarat Was Almost as Dead as a Door Nail.

WILLIE LOOKED DISGUSTED

The Boy Rode for All He Was Worth, but It Was Useless—Bender Made a Game Fight With Rosita—Duffy's Head Was Swelled, but the Little Fellow Reduced It.

If Willie Hams wasn't riding a "dead-on" yesterday then he must have run one in his life. He had the mount on Baccarat, and the horse must either have been "stuffed" before he went to the post, or else he had not been out of the stable since his last race.

In his previous races he simply galloped away from the class of horses that he met yesterday. Two weeks ago he beat Monolith in the easiest kind of fashion; five-eighths of a mile in 1:02 1-4. Yesterday with only four pounds difference in the weights he was beaten off, finishing fifth to Monolith, Affinity, Vesta and Murray in 1:03.

There was too liberal a price laid against the colt at all times. As good as even money could be had. As far as Hams is concerned, the horse was trying for all he was worth. The boy rode him for all there was in him from the drop off the flag, but the horse did not have one bit of his usual speed.

HAM WAS DISGUSTED.

Hams must have realized that he was on a lobster the moment the colt started to run, as he more disgusted looking boy would have been hard to find than he was when he dismounted after the race.

Little B. Bender rode the race of his life on Rosita. She was a hot favorite in the fourth race, going to the post at even money. Bender took her to the front and raced a length in front of his field to the far turn, where Tear Drop got to him, and swinging into the stretch was a good half length to the good.

Duffy was confident that he had the race won, and took things easy, riding with a slight pull on his mount's head. Little Bender did not give it up by any means, and drawing his whip, put up a whipping finish that many an older boy might have been proud of.

The filly ran a game race under the whip, and fighting every inch of ground, got her nose in front when twenty yards from the wire and managed to keep it there to the end.

Duffy realized that he had been overconfident when he saw Bender hang on so gamely, and went to the last himself. He did more than make good, however, and would have probably had a better chance if he had continued to ride with his hands and heels. When he drew the whip on Tear Drop she faltered, and did not regain her stride in time to give Rosita an argument.

FAVORITE LANDED THE MONEY.

The thirteen maidens that went to the post in the opening race were very much on the dog order. Several of them were heavily played. Achilles probably received as much support as any of them at first, but the talent appeared to fancy Parthian the more and he closed first choice at 2 to 1. He rewarded his backers by winning in handy fashion from Clair W. with Achilles third.

C. O. D. Avon and Chetlain all received heavy support in the second event. The first finally went to the post the favorite at 3 to 2. He was never in the money at any stage of the race, but he was the one to take command on the first turn, and staying there to the end, was an easy winner by half a length from Chetlain. The latter ran a wonderful race. He got off last, but ran by his field one by one and was catching the winner at every jump when he finished.

With Ham up, Baccarat was the favorite in the race for the youngsters, which was at five furlongs out of the chute. He finished at half fifth. He and Murray took turns at leading until they were within a hundred yards from the finish, when Monolith came through with a rush and at the end won easily by three lengths from Affinity, with Vesta third.

ROSITA RANG GALELY.

Tear Drop was the first selected to capture the fourth race, but did not hold the position of favorite long, as a heavy play came in on Rosita, and forcing her price to even money, Tear Drop quickly went to 5 to 1. Padre also received considerable support, Rosita ran the gamut kind of a race, and shaking off of Tear Drop's challenge in the stretch landed the money in a hard drive by a head.

Mirage was the choice in the next, closing at 3 to 5. Bronston was second choice at even money and got all the coin. He was out in front all the way and won by a length from Mirage, who was as much before Paris.

The closing event was simply an exercise gallop for Key West. He is in the grandest kind of shape just at present and could win on nearly any track in the country. Murphy had a thousand different kinds of wraps on him all the way and was pulled up by a length and a half from Finlawater.
